Highlights of Our School

We, the students at P.M.H.S., have made a few headlines this year. This is what the 1983-84 school year was all about. Often the school and students could be found in the headlines of local newspapers. However, many times what we think should be headlines isn't. That is why we have attempted to capture all those important events and memories and make them headlines of this book.

We remember many headlines: "Beaseley Takes Over," "Football Single A State Champions, The Fighting Blues," "Juniors Honor the Seniors With An Evening At The Mardi Gras," "The Traditional Rat Week Comes To An End," "Sophomores Order Class Rings For The First Time," and finally "Seniors Shed Tears As Their Year Comes To A Close."

Looking at these library doors, students are envious of the teachers who are allowed to use them.

Although empty now, PMHS students use these doors regularly throughout the school year.

Who Will Take His Place?

"Leaving? But he has only been assistant principal since June. Who will they find to take his place?"

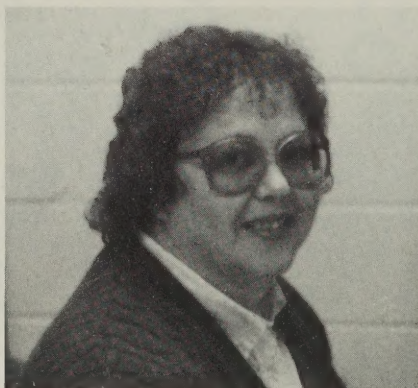

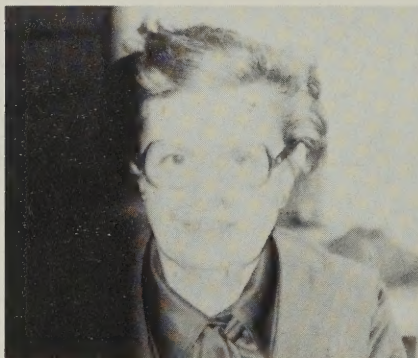

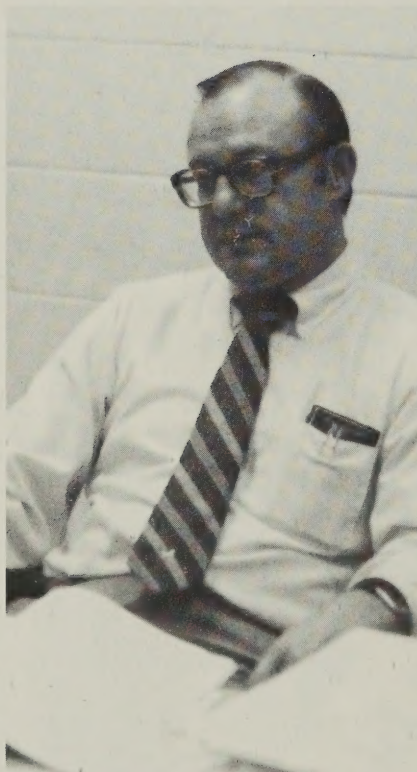

"Who cares about who will take his place as assistant principal, who will be the football coach?"

Students were shocked to hear that Mr. Ellison would be leaving them in January. He had taught Algebra and General Math here for more than ten years and led our football team to two state championships. Finally in June when Mr. Sams left us, Mr. Ellison was chosen to replace him as assistant principal. Now he was going to leave us. To the principal the big question was who will be assistant principal but to the students, it was who will fill his shoes as a football coach.

The World of Work

Through the years there are some people who are not thanked for their hard work and their efforts. Without them our school would not run as smooth or be as organized as it is today and has been through the years. We would like to recognize these people. They are the Cafeteria Staff, the Librarians, the Janitors, and the Special Ed. teachers. Each day we see these people but fail to realize their abilities.

We have had a great loss of one of the Cafeteria staff, Mrs. Dot Glass who passed away this past summer. We will never forget her and her contributions.

Substitutes Become Permanent

Mrs. Dale and Mrs. Hess, accept permanent positions on the PMHS faculty. Mrs. Dale had substituted in the Math Department last year. Mrs. Hess had filled in for other teachers during absences several times in the past years. The theme of the Math Department this year is, "Great Expectations" — the name of the game". This theme was brought about to encourage students to improve Math Skills and achieve higher scores on standardized tests. This year students participated in a standardized testing program for mathematics at Dabney Lancaster Community College. We had two students who won awards for their performance. These students were Craig Smith and Vince Hinkle.

There are no new faces in the English Department but there were numerous activities happening. Mrs. Teague's 11th grade English classes took a field trip to the Roanoke Civic Center to see a play. 12th grade English classes also saw a play in Roanoke. Travel filled the summer for one of the English teachers, Ms. Alvine. She studied at Oxford University in England and also visited many other sights while overseas. She brought back many slides which she has shared with teachers and students.

Different Desks

Accustomed to sitting in comfortable chairs, the staff and service personnel became students once again and sat in different desks as they attended inservice or college classes.

Right before school opened, Parry McCluer High School teachers attended inservice classes on classroom first aid. This class was designed to bring the teachers up to date on educational policies and new teaching techniques.

Classes such as computers and classroom effectiveness were taught to the teachers by various college professors.

Some teachers such as Mrs. Gerri Pryor decided to further their education by taking college courses. Working on her Masters at James Madison University, Mrs. Pryor attended classes one night a week at Harrisonburg.

Attending these classes, the staff gained valuable knowledge that could only benefit the school.

Super Sponsors

Who works for hours after school is out, who knows how to do just about everything, who is able to lead teams to state playoffs? They're friends ... they're computers ... they're super sponsors! After the school day was over, most teachers headed for home, but for some the day had just begun as they became club advisors, class advisors or coaches of various sports squads.

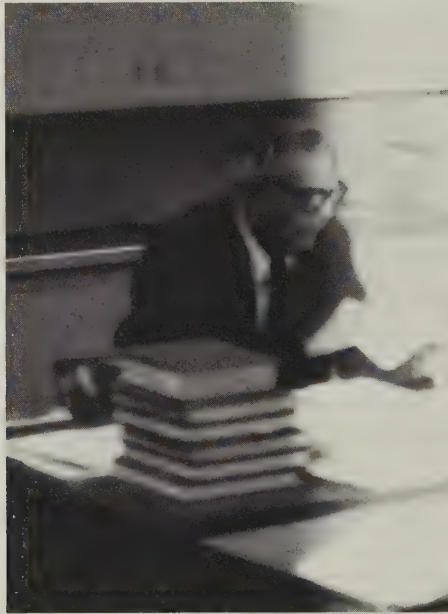

Some teachers gave a lot of their free time. Mr. Evans spent endless hours at work with the cross country team. He worked long and hard preparing for the Regionals that were held here.

These teachers who gave unselfishly of their time and energy, were often paid back by awards the clubs would get, games a team would win, or the finished product of a long awaited project, but the students who were the club members or the athletes were the only ones who would ever know just how much the super sponsors did.

It Seems So Long Ago

As the year was coming to an end, the seniors found themselves looking back at the past four years. We all want to think each year was special but no one will forget our freshman year. At the beginning of the year, we won many of the pep rallies and this continued throughout the remainder of the year. We became known as the "Spirited Class" who were "True Blues." To prove this further, we kept winning all through our high school years. No one will forget Rat Week. We had a large class to participate and had more fun than any other class. No one will forget Amy Slough breaking her ankle of

L. D. Rowsey's slinky jumpsuit. But most of all, the little chants we had to yell, while running down the hall, had to top them all off. We thought our sophomore year was going to be an easy year because there weren't many events planned for us that year. So we decided to take it easy while we cruised the strip showing off our driver's license. But that wasn't enough for our class, so we made our own fun. The main event of our Sophomore year was the Sadie Hawkins dance where you could buy marriage licenses and divorce papers at the same time. This event was enjoyed by all.

Memories Fade Slowly

Our Junior year was going to be full of decisions to make and events to schedule. We were all eager to order classrings and get environmental taken. When the excitement of this was over, it was time to settle down and start thinking about our future plans. This included making many decisions about colleges and taking the SAT's. The previous dances were special but none could compare to the Junior/Senior Prom. As we decorated for the theme "A Night in Paris," our many hard hours finally paid off and we could sit back and listen to the music of the "Kings."

Seniors Have a Good Year

As we entered our senior year, we were excited knowing graduation was less than a year away. We started off by giving the rats a dose of what we received our freshman year. Then we chose four couples to represent our class for Homecoming. Pam Irvine was chosen as the Homecoming Queen. We were determined to make this a year to remember some way or another. Our football season proved to be successful as we finished it off with a State Championship title for the third time. We had eight senior players and three senior cheerleaders. The seniors had their drapes taken and ordered their graduation announcements. Later during the year, we had our cap and gown pictures taken. We all enjoyed the prom, but thoughts of graduation filled our minds. We knew we would soon be very busy.

Graduation Awaits Us

Graduation is something we have looked forward to for as long as we can remember. But when the few remaining weeks approach, we somehow find ourselves looking back with only good memories of school. We sit with old friends remembering this and remembering that and we find a tear or two trickling down our faces. We will soon be saying good-bye to childhood friends and many memories. These memories will be tucked away in the darkest corners of our minds, but never forgotten. High school has played a very important part in helping us grow and shape our future. We have learned more than the Pythagorean theorem and the parts of speech. We have found that our teachers can also be our friends who often do more than their job. They also care. We will remember the friends we've made. Hopefully we have all learned to be responsible adults.

Being a Senior Means

Quotes from Seniors:

"Being a senior means three years of memorable high school years to look back on as you strive to make the last one the best."

"It feels like everyone is looking up to you and it makes you feel like you're making an impression on them."

"It feels great to be a senior and I can't wait to get out of this rat hole."

"When you're a senior sometimes you have great feelings and sometimes you start feeling sad about leaving school and being out all on your own with so many decisions to make."

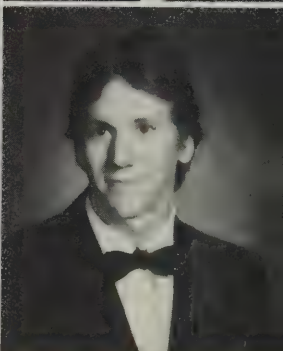

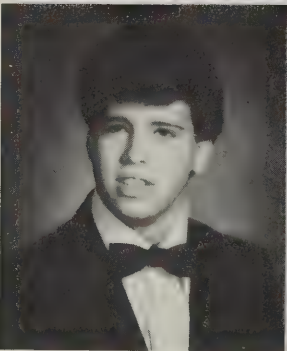

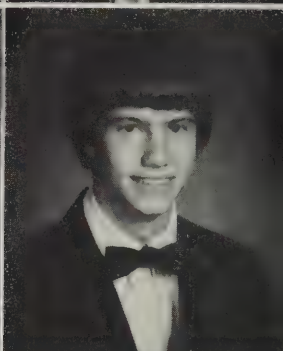

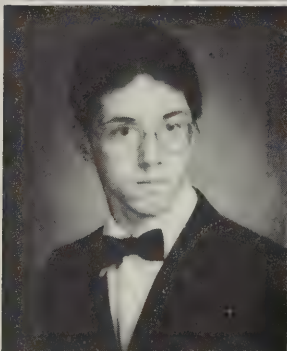

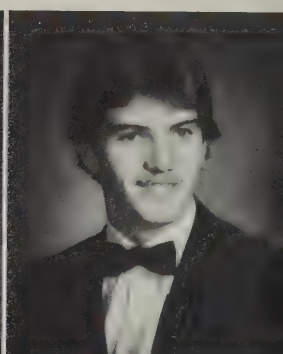

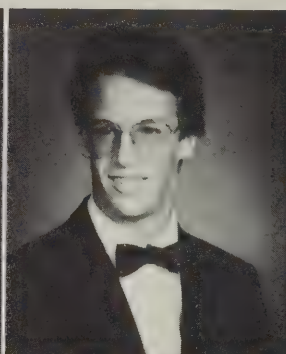

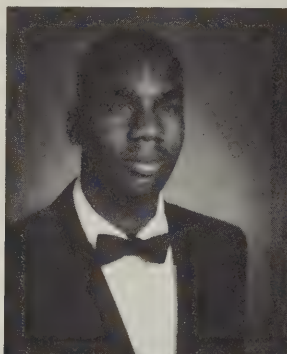

"Feels great to be a senior and to walk down the hall knowing you're the 'rule of the school.'"

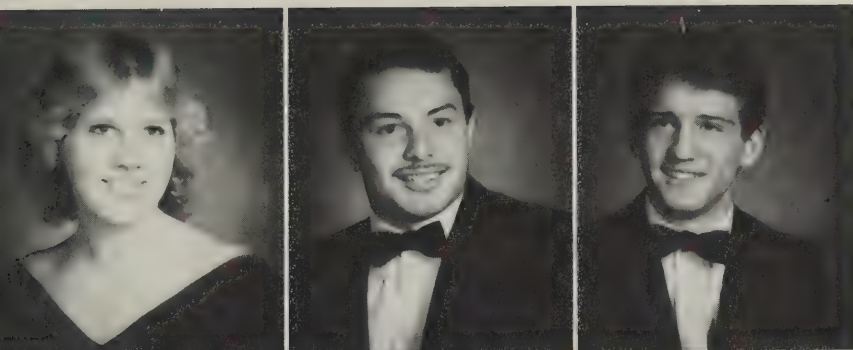

"Being a senior means leaving all the good memories behind and time to make new ones."

Juniors Order Class Rings

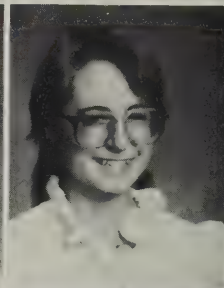

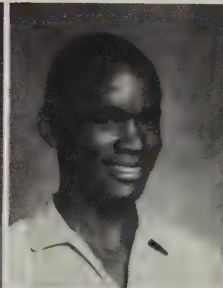

On Friday, October 7, all the Juniors met in the cafeteria to order class rings. The Big Day that everyone was looking forward to had finally arrived. As the representative from the Balfor Company described the quality of the rings, the Juniors discovered that it takes a lot of time before deciding on which ring they want.

There were many styles to choose from as were colors and prices. Some students took half a day to pick their styles, others it took just minutes. The Balfor Company also sent good news to the Juniors. There were told that the Balfor Company would give the annual ring dance to them. The arrival of rings and the dance are both driving Juniors crazy.

Juniors Puff Out Seniors

Saturday, October 15, marked a very special day for the Junior girls. On this very day, the Junior girls defeated the Senior girls in a game of "Powder Puff" football. The game was held at 10:00 o'clock that morning on Camden Field.

The football game ended out the annual "Spirit Week," which was one that will be remembered by the teachers and students of P.M.H.S. for many years to come. The game itself was a hard fought battle with the Juniors coming out on the top with a little help from the cheerleaders. It was also the first time in a few years that the Juniors were able to "drag" the Seniors down. The final score was 8-0.

Kim Carawan runs away with the ball, while the Juniors struggle for another t.d.

Jill Jewell tries to get the Seniors on the scoreboard, while Carrie Richardson, Lisa Coffey, and Missy Wright block for their team.

Goal Not Achieved

During September the Juniors started the Magazine Drive. The drive is supposed to be the biggest money making project of all. Since the Juniors had a shortage of money, they set their goal high, at $ 3000.00. The Juniors didn't reach their goal, but they did reach $ 1500.00 of it.

There were many prizes to be won during the drive. There was a prize of $ 20.00 that went to Missy Wright for selling the most during week 1 of the drive. Other winners were: Mitzi Coleman — grand prize winner and Anne Hess — runner up. The Juniors are striving hard to reach their goal for the upcoming Junior-Senior Prom.

One Class, Different Activities

Buzzzzz! It's 2:32 and school is finally out. The halls fill with bussling students, all rushing to get to their lockers. And then home. Once there, you find you are totally exhausted. You drop the books on the kitchen table and begin to raid the refrigerator. You're tired. You have worked your brain hard all day. Homework will have to wait till later. You decide to turn on the TV and relax with Starcade. By the end of the show you find yourself keyed up for a little Q*bert, Burger-time, and Tron. So now you head for the arcade to feed the lunch money you saved for this special occasion into the quarter hungry machines.

When you get home you notice the school books still lying on the kitchen table. You're about to get to work when you notice it is ten o'clock, time for Knots Landing, so it is back to the tube. When it goes off at eleven you are too tired to do the homework and decide to do it in the morning.

Basic But Essential

Regardless of what career a person pursues, knowledge in certain subjects becomes a necessity. Serving as building blocks, classes like biology, world history, and English are basic but essential courses.

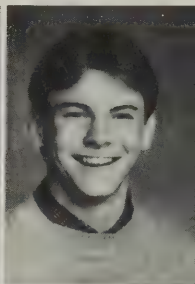

After the restricted scheduling of the junior high, most sophomores appreciate that they could now choose several of their classes. However, several classes are still required.

Elective classes are designed with the student in mind. Selecting his own classes allows the student to cultivate personal interests while seeking a direction for the future. Because these classes may pertain to a student's career plans, it is only natural that he would show a greater interest in them.

The remainder of a sophomore's schedule may include band, or art. Such business classes as Accounting I, and computers have proven popular with many sophomores. Due to a foreign language program taken in earlier years many sophomores are enrolled in Spanish or German classes and driver's education are also available.

Being a Sophomore Means

Reflecting over my sophomore year, I wondered what it really meant to be a part of this class.

When you are a sophomore it means:
not being rats to seniors anymore.

Teacher Haunts the Halls

Screams! Chills! Mischief! On October 31, a student might find he had forgotten his biology book and decide to return to his locker for it. As he approached room 163, he heard a sudden shrieking scream. Slightly curious at what was going on inside he may have found himself peeking in the window or the door. To his surprise, he did not see Mrs. Stinnett but rather an old crippled-up, witchy woman dressed in black. Realizing this must be her substitute, he probably would find her a little bit out of the ordinary.

The real shock would come when he noticed that instead of books on her desk there were many gruesome articles such as old bones, snakes, hair, and gookie substances beyond explaining.

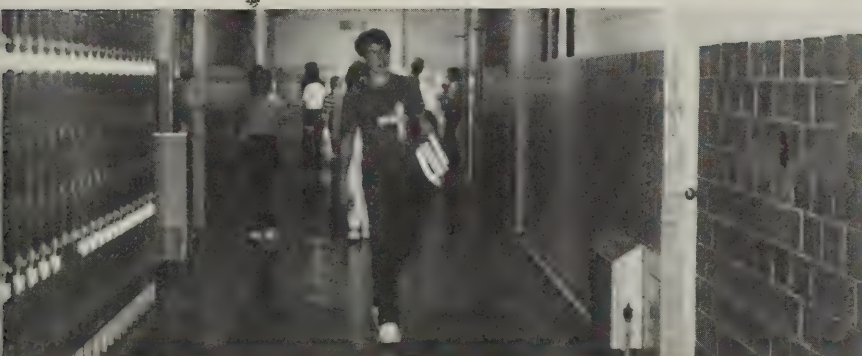

For eight years Mrs. Stinnett has dressed this way on Halloween and played the witchy role for her students. "Most students seem to enjoy it," said one student. "It is really fun and makes class different."

Some Pleasure, Some Pain

He pushed hard. His head hurt and his muscles ached but he kept fighting to keep up with the others. He had played through pee wee, junior league, and Junior Varsity, now he was finally here. Pushing, striving to make it.

This is an experience many of the sophomores went through this year. Each had dreamed of the day they could actually play for the Fighting or Lady Blues. To have the opportunity to earn the letter that showed they were a part of Parry McCluer was a goal well worth striving for. Now they were here. Actually fighting to make the team.

This year's sophomore class has had fund raising activities such as selling love pops. During the week of Homecoming the sophomores worked hard all week on the float getting ready for Friday night, and it paid off for they took first place for the best decorated float.

In the spring, the Sophomore Class visited the Floyd S. Kay Vocational School. The tour acquainted the sophomores with the facilities of the center and assisted them in deciding whether they would attend the school. After being divided into small groups, the students visited the various departments at the center. The visitors watched the Vo-Tech students as they laid bricks, repaired motors, and performed other trade skills. The tour concluded with a question and answer period.

Memorable Tradition Dies

No more cheese. "No more seniors are great, rats stink." The ratweek initiation was started to help freshmen adjust more easily to high school, to fit in, and to give them a little dignity.

Each year there has been a steady decline in rat participation. This year was the last year the students could take part in this tradition.

The few but fantastic freshmen that participated should be thanked and always remembered for they have ended a very memorable tradition at Parry McCluer. It has always been treasured by each senior and freshmen who participated long after they graduated.

Freshman Wins Beauty Pageant

On November 3, 1983, the boys packed on the make-up, dressed up the chest, and buckled up the high heel shoes for the Ugly Man Contest. While Mr. Ellison dug in students pockets for money, the students filled the gym for the big event. They competed in both swimwear and evening or night wear. You haven't seen legs until you meet "Silky Legs" Wade in a bathing suit. Gerd Ballner wore a sexy black negligee filled with balloons.

The winning contestant was a freshman "Hotlips" T. T. Carter and wore a "hot pink" lingerie ensemble. He won a $5.00 prize, a bouquet of dead flowers, and a lace bra. Some people thought the judges had been paid off before the contest. Others loved the decision.

Spirit Shown By Freshmen

We've got spirit, yes we do. We've got spirit how about you. The Freshman class really seemed to get involved during spirit week. Those who didn't quite have the nerve to wear their cheese and participate as rats could usually be found dressed as punks, or in pj's, in jerseys, in bandanas, or even as greasers, from the Rockin 50's.

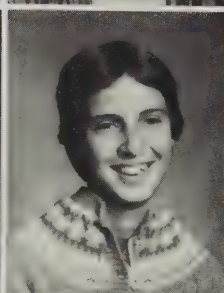

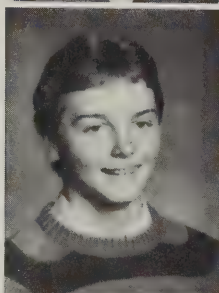

At the pep rally on October 13, the RATS who had been loyal in the initiation were recognized and awarded a block of cheese. Also recognized was Freshman Mellisa Agnor who bought the most hearts for the "I CARE ABOUT MATHEW" fund raiser sponsored by the cheerleaders. Mellisa wore the hearts pinned on both arms, legs, chest, and back.

High School — A Breeze

As their first day of High School began, the Freshmen started a life that would be totally different from anything else before. Their studies would be harder, not to mention all the different classes that were offered to take. Schedules were given out and the Freshmen started on the journey of "High School" life.

Classes such as Science, English, and Physical Education were required. Others such as Shop, Home Ec, Art, Foreign Languages, Study Hall and many others are electives that the students can choose.

Many have adjusted to this new life well, others are just "tagging along". When asked how their first year of high school was going along, most replied "It's a Breeze."

Participation is Important

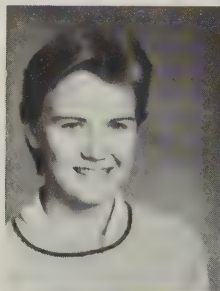

As their first year at Parry McCluer High School started, the freshmen put their best foot forward. In sports, Junior Varsity football started off with several interested freshman guys participating. Practicing everyday, they soon became adjusted to their schedule. Although the season ended in a defeat, the J.V. football players and cheerleaders threw a party to celebrate.

The freshman girls also played an important role in sports. Junior Varsity seemed to interest several girls in the freshman class. They worked hard and found that it was fun, interesting, and competitive. They worked hard, but they found out that "you can't win 'em all."

Over all, the freshmen really showed an interest in high school, especially in sports. Proving to be outgoing, the freshman class will hopefully be very successful in their future years at Parry McCluer High School.

Runners Work Hard

A dedicated group of young men made up the cross country team. This sport often did not get the recognition they deserved. They run whether the weather is good or bad. Fans are few in numbers at their meets, but they strive to win in spite of this.

They had a very successful season. Out of thirteen meets, six of these were first place finishes. We are proud of the athletic contribution these runners make to PMHS.

Win or Loss An Ongoing Challenge

Even though the season was not as successful as we had hoped for, the girls basketball team did put forth effort in sportsmanship and team work. They really enjoyed playing basketball as a group.

The junior varsity football team had a successful season with five wins and three losses. Coached by Mr. Camper and led by returning players, the team had worked to have another undefeated season, but this dream was snapped by the "AAA" school, Cave Spring. The team went on to be undefeated in the district.

State Champions

The 1983 Fighting Blues team was very productive in obtaining its' third state championship title, an honor only to be shared with Clintwood.

The Fighting Blues players took many honors. The following were named to the All District Team: Danny Cole, Brian Clark, Mike Groot, Joey Clark, Tim Roberts, Kirk Wheeler, Butch Wheeler, Rad Patterson, Wayne Beverley, Mark Wheeler, Terence Huffman, and Jeff Entsminger. Danny Cole was named defensive player of the year, and Butch Wheeler offensive player of the year in the district. The Fighting Blues won 14 of only 24 available district medals.

The All Regional team was filled by back Butch

Wheeler, offensive tackle Mike Groot, defensive tackle Danny Cole, defensive end Terence Huffman, linebacker Mark Wheeler, guard Timmy Roberts, and defensive back Rad Patterson. Filling the All State team were Butch Wheeler, Mike Groot, Danny Cole, Rad Patterson, and Terence Huffman. Other honors received were All Timesland performers Butch Wheeler, Danny Cole, and Mike Groot. The Fighting Blues had worked and fought for three years to achieve this goal.

Working Together

The 1983-84 Varsity Cheerleading squad began their season during the summer months prior to attending cheerleading camp at the University of Virginia. Their symbol and friend, "The Box," rallied them throughout the year and kept them dancing with spirits high.

The squad bonded themselves with friendship and supported one another through a long but prosperous season. The highlight of their season was when the Fighting Blues took the Group A 'State Football title. Behind the team stood eight teary-eyed and proud girls who cheered their hearts out in either victory or loss. Although the season was long and hard, it proved to be a worthwhile and meaningful season.

J.V.'s Make it Happen

After tryouts in May, the J.V. cheerleaders attended cheerleading camp at Virginia Tech. They stayed for four days and brought home several ribbons and a spirit stick for their effort and enthusiasm. They also brought back several new cheers, sidelines, chants, and stunts which have been very helpful in bringing spirit to the sports crowds. Along with learning more and better things about cheerleading, they also made many new friends.

They do their best in cheering for girls and boys J.V. basketball, football, and both J.V. and Varsity wrestling teams.

They practiced after school several days a week. Most of their time was spent on practicing and learning new routines to popular songs such as: "Maniac," "Beat It," "PYT," and "Boy Meets Girl." They performed these at games as well as pep rallies.

During the football season they sold "Fighting Blues," bumper stickers and decals. Along with the Varsity cheerleaders they also sold hearts as a fund drive for Matthew Penick, a small boy in the community suffering from a rare disease.

They also helped the Varsity cheerleaders in sponsoring and decorating for "Homecoming."

With the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Winnie Carr, they put their best foot forward and had a great year!

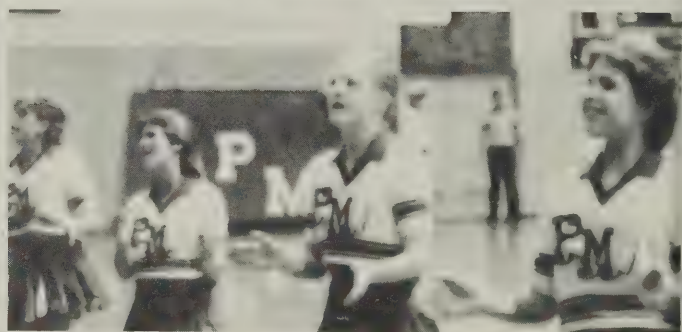

J.V. sports play an important part in the high school. The J.V. basketball team had a successful year. They won many games, but also learned how to get along and work together as a team.

Few in Number

The Indoor Track team completed its 1983-84 season in mid February. Competing against AA and AAA teams, exclusively, the team showed steady improvement with each meet. Individuals who stood out for the running Blues were Danny Cole in the shot put (placing in every meet with his personal best in the last meet) Vann Staton in the pole vault, John Eggleston in the high jump, long jump, 300m and the 500m. Jerome Carter in the long and triple jump. The team finished in the meets as follows: 6th out of 8 teams, 2nd out of 4 teams, 5th out of 6 teams.

The team also completed in the Cormack Relays against 45 other schools. Despite their lack of depth, the season was very rewarding.

Second in District

The 1983-84 Lady Blues softball team had a good year and showed much improvement. They finished with a 5-11 overall record and a 3-3 in the district. Defeating last year's district champs, the James River Knights, two times was an exceptionally good event for the Lady Blues. Putting forth lots of effort and striving as a team was a very important aspect of this year's well-played season. Although they didn't win the district, they did have a good record that will stand out in the years to come.

Swinging the bat with determination, Lisa Clark succeeds in hitting the ball.

Leaning forward, Lisa Flint catches the ball from the pitcher.

As the ball approaches the bat, Sherrie Lineberry gets ready to hit the ball.

Preparing to race to first base is Pam Grant after she gets a hit.

Bunting the ball, Sherrie Wheeler gets another hit.

Almost Tops

The girls' tennis team had a good season for 1984. Even though the team record was 4-8, they went to Alburn High School for the regional tournament. The team defeated Rural Retreat with a 6-3 win. The team received second place by losing to Fort Chiswell. Vonda Campbell and Lauren Pinson went on to receive third in the state tournament.

The boys' tennis team was 0-6. In doubles, Rad Patterson and Brent Huffman won the regional tournament and lost in the finals to Auburn.

In good form, Rad Patterson prepares to return the serve.

While practicing her forehand, Lauren Pinson successfully hits the ball over the net.

Following through with her swing, Vonda Campbell sends the ball soaring across the net.

As the ball comes over the net, Leslie Moran stretches to hit the ball back to the other side.

Practicing her backhand LeeAnn McPhaul sends the ball into the air and over the net.

Valuable Experience

The Parry McCluer girls' track team lacked members this year seeing they only had eight members. Although they were few in number, the team finished with 5-5 record in the district. The girls had to participate in as many events as possible to win the track meets, but win they did. The girls' track team worked hard and had a good showing for their efforts.

The Parry McCluer boys' track team captured the District Track Title by defeating James River, VSD, Rockbridge, and Natural Bridge. They advanced eight members to the regionals and six members to the state.

Annual "Band Day"

Irvine Crowned Homecoming Queen

The 1983 Homecoming filled students with more than school spirit, but also filled hearts with the spirit of love. During Spirit Week, cheerleaders sold hearts saying, "I Care About Mathew Pennick." Mathew is a child in the area who is a victim of cancer.

Before the football game, the floats, Homecoming representatives and the band, paraded from the school to the field. Sophomores took 1st place float.

During halftime, the Homecoming court was announced, Pam Irvine, escorted by Tracy Rudasill, shed a few tears as she was crowned Homecoming Queen '83.

WHILE PLACING THE CROWN ON PAM IRVINE, Mr. Wayne D. Flint smiles proudly.

STANDING PROUDLY WITH THEIR ESCORTS WERE SENIOR
REPRESENTATIVES; Melissa
Dumford escorted by Greg Secrist, Mary
Hess escorted by Stephen King, and Lori
Floyd escorted by Craig Smith.

WITH THE BAND BEHIND THEM, Mitzi Coleman and escort Gary Davis represent the class of '85.

REPRESENTING THEIR FRESHMAN CLASS, Pam Grant and escort Eddie Floyd.

Shocked upon hearing her name called as Miss PMHS 1984, Carolyn Fitzgerald bows her head as she is congratulated by Lisa Crawford.

Proudly displaying her tiara, Carolyn Fitzgerald holds the savings bond she won as Miss PMHS.

Standing on stage are four of the five finalists: Carolyn Fitzgerald, Amy Floyd, Kay Huffman and Jill Jewell.

PMHS Beauties Compete

On February 4, fourteen lovely young ladies competed for the title of Miss PMHS 1984.

Entertainment was provided by Donna Smals, Craig Smith, Pam Carter, Michelle Ryman, Mrs. Elsie Floyd, Neil Peters, Joseph Long and Lori Floyd (Miss PMHS 1983). The Mistress of Ceremonies was Mary Shewey. The pageant was sponsored by the Future Business Leaders of America. Crowned Miss PMHS 1984 was Carolyn Fitzgerald.

Carolyn Fitzgerald flashes her winning smile, after being crowned Miss PMHS 1984, by last year's winner Lori Floyd.

All Night Long

The Junior Class worked hard to prepare for the 1984 prom. Saturday, April 28th is a night that will be remembered for a long time by all those who attended the prom. The theme of the prom was "A Night at the Mardi Gras" and "All Night Long" was chosen as the theme song. The band brought the night alive and as the "Houserockers" ended the evening, there was time for "break dancing."

A first for this year was a prom king and queen, chosen by the Juniors. The king was Kirk Wheeler and the queen was Lori Floyd.

The Juniors worked hard, had fun, and then enjoyed the evening along with everyone else.

Taking a break from dancing, Trina Rowsey and her date chat about the Prom decorations.

Danny Wheeler, Anita Ferguson and Frank Figgers take time out from the Prom to try the refreshments.

Making their stand as Seniors are Mike Groot with date Carolyn Fitzgerald and Brent Huffman with date Lori Gilliam.

Finding time away from the rest of the world, Pam Irvine and her date find time for themselves.

Dancing to the beat of the House Rockers is Katie Lawrence and her date Travis Snider.

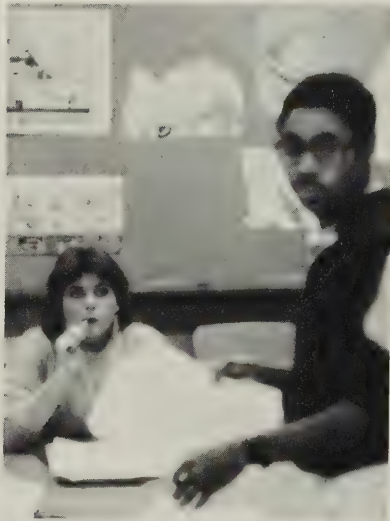

SCA Helps Others

The National Honor Society had a fall picnic. In October members appeared on Pop Quiz. Later, they went to VOU and then on their spring trip.

The SCA did a special thing for Matthew Penick, who was suffering from a rare disease. To show their concern, they sent a card and a stuffed animal.

Some of their fund raisers were selling keyrings and bandanas.

Using their relaxation period, Jill Jewell and Kay Huffman sell refreshments for the S.C.A.

Working on a class project, Vince Rhodes and Katie Lawrence show that the S.C.A. lounge is also used as a classroom.

Clubs Have Winners

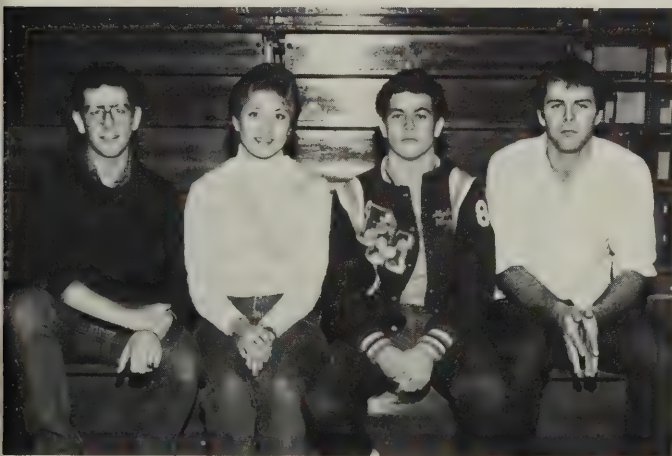

The Chess Club activity and interest has declined this year. This is the first year in three years that we haven't gone to the Scholastic Tournament. Scheduling differences in the middle school have ended activity time, which in previous years attracted as many as a dozen.

Hi-Y hosted the fall conference where two members were elected to state offices: Donna Robey, House Sergeant at Arms and Kelly Flint, Page. This would have given us a delegation of four to the Model General Assembly in Richmond, including Stephen King and Craig Smith. The group went through legislative process in Richmond on April 12, 13, 14. A preliminary workshop was held in Lexington March 29.

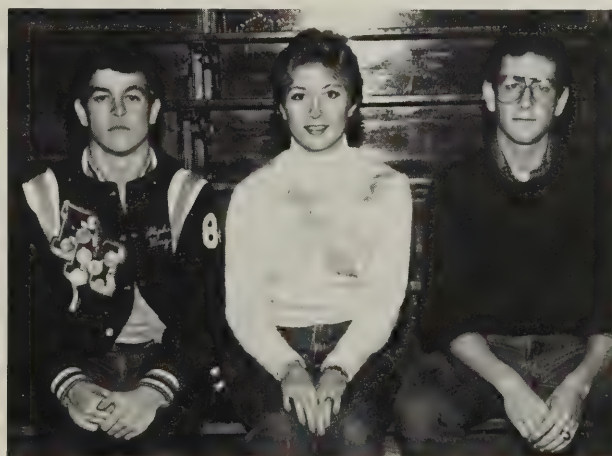

The Drama Club's one-act district play festival was held at Bath County on March 3. Our play, "A Doll's House" did not advance to regionals.

Forensics District competition was held at New Castle High School on February 25. The team placed 2nd in the district. The Regionals were held at Drewry Mason High School on March 10. No one advanced to the state.

Sixty members belong to the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) Chapter at Parry McCluer. Students enrolled in business subjects are given leadership opportunities; can compete in business events at regional, state, and national levels; and can participate in service projects for school and community.

Having Mr. Nelson Fox as sponsor, the Monogram Club contributed to the school athletic program. The club began the year by holding the annual Jog-a-Thon and the Jog-a-Thon Dance. Having other fund raising activities, the club sold metals for letter jackets.

Future Homemakers of America is a service organization at Parry McCluer this year. As an activity the FHA members scheduled baby-sitting jobs at Enderly Heights P.T.A. meetings.

Taking time to warm-up are two participants in the Monogram Club jog-a-thon.

Getting Help

When preparing for a career, a good place to go for guidance would be Talent Search. It helps the students choose the college that is best for them. Mrs. Claytor, the Talent Search representative, helps the students with their applications and financial aid forms. She also provides transportation for the students who wish to visit colleges.

For the underclassmen, she provides films and newsletters that help them with decisions. Mrs. Claytor helps them prepare for S.A.T.'s and she helps them in preparing for college plans.

Talent Search is a good place to go when it's time to start making decisions about careers and also about continuing an education.

For Talent Search, Kim McDaniel is filling out a financial aid form.

First Row: Pamela Carter, Sandra Thurman, Michelle Hopkins, Vince Rhodes, Sylvia Carter, Ski Henson, Roger Lessley, Amy Yelverton. in fear of our doom."

"Where are the croppers?", cried Stephanie and Kim.

"Ask Kirk and Danny what happened to them!"

Typewriter keys pecked for Terry and Sherri

While Mitzi declared, "I am going insane!"

"Our copy's too long," muttered Lori and Chris.

"Get Missy and Melanie to modify this."

Jill on index and Tony on

Think of Leslie

Think of Leslie

Every once in a while I'd see her smile
And she'd turn my day around.
A girl with those eyes
Could stare through the lies
And see what your heart was thinking.

Think of Leslie but laugh don't cry.
I know she'd want it that way.
When you think of Leslie laugh don't cry.
I know she'd want it that way.

A friend of a friend
A friend to the end
That's the kind of girl she was.
Taken away so young
Taken away without a warning.

I know you and you're here
Every day we live.
I know her and she's here.
I can feel her when I sing.

Hey, Leslie, where are you now?
Are you far away from here?
I don't think so.
I think you're here.
Taking our tears away . . .

Having received her diploma, Vince Rhodes assists Missy Patterson down the steps.

Completing final exams, Mike Groot and Kirk Wheeler take a break.

The final week had finally arrived for the Seniors. Exams were now behind them. Senior Day was held Wednesday, May 30. It was a chilly day, but that did not keep some Seniors from enjoying a swim in the pool at Glen Maury Park and an enjoyable day of activities.

The day ended with a banquet held at Southern Seminary Junior College.

Senior Superstars

After the long 12 years a class spends together each student becomes very familiar with one another. A family like togetherness has seemed to form and the mere thought of graduation and going their separate ways is a little upsetting.

Because of this, the class of '84 felt they would like to give recognition to those students who they best remembered for being:

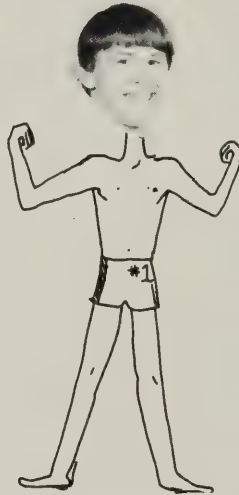

Best Dressed — Craig Smith and Pam Irvine

Biggest Flirt — Rad Patterosn and Jill Jewell

Most Intelligent — Terence Huffman and Pam Robertson

Cutest Couple — Danny Cole and Donna Smals

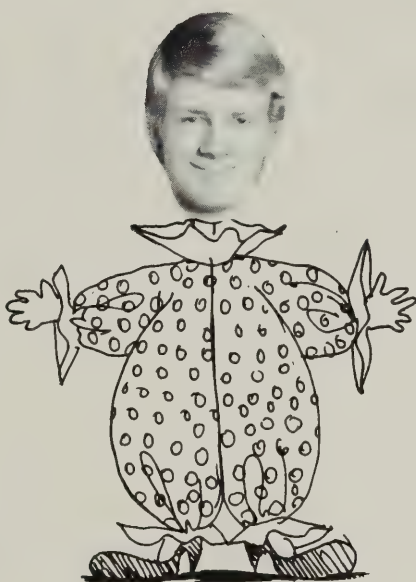

Most School Spirited — L. D. Rowsey and Missy Patterson

Class Clowns — Chris Clark and Cheryl Hollopter

Most Innocent — Tina Mason and Ski Henson

Most Mischievous — Sam Campbell and Laura Lee Morris

Most Athletic — Butch Wheeler and Sherri Wheeler

Seniors' Big Day

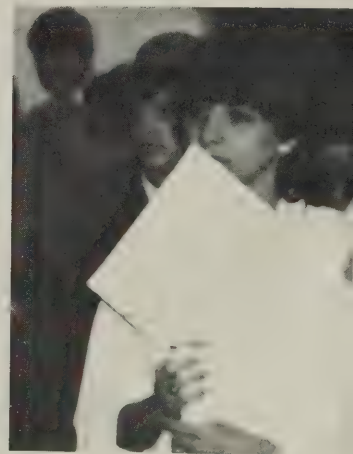

Showing little excitement, Jeff White, Butch Wheeler, Kirk Wheeler, and Mark Updike wait to be pronounced graduates of PMHS.

After graduation, Randy Stinnett gathers with his family.

Graduation was filled with happiness and sadness for the Seniors. Happiness for having completed this phase of their life. Sadness for the thought of leaving friends behind.

Smiling proudly, Tondi Holt receives her diploma.

Clutching diploma and cap, Melissa Dumford seems lost in thought.
